American Turbine is a high quality HVLP manufacturer, providing guns, turbines, and other HVLP parts. If you've used Accuspray in the past but find it impossible to find any more, American Turbine is your solution. Many professionals are making the switch due to the lack of Accuspray products in the market.

We recommend and automatically choose certain parts for you because more than 97% of our customers use this setup for their spray guns. Most of our customers are spraying lacquer or other non-wiping stains, but this setup will work for most finishes. If you're not sure if this set up will work for you, reference the table below to determine what you may like instead.

American Turbine has become the new industry standard for high quality HVLP systems. After Accuspray went the way of the dinosaurs, consumers and professionals alike began looking at alternatives in the market. American Turbine provides high quality guns, turbines, and accessories to make the job easy.

Professional spray gun features: easily adjustable spray patterns; rapid spray pattern change from large to small. Non-bleed for less shop dust-ups and provides excellent atomization for controlled results. The universal air inlet fitting makes this spray gun an easy replacement to use for all units. We have a full range of needle nozzle combinations from 0.5mm to 2.8mm.
