These batteries are Duracell's recommendation for everyday devices, such as digital cameras, photoflash, toys or boomboxes, and of course are great fit for the regularly used devices as flashlights, portable game controllers, shavers, toothbrushes and any other.

I am reviewing these batteries as they were received as a free offer from Ocado. They are and always have been our battery of choice. Been using them now for nearly 50 years! They are well dated, durable and reliable. We recycle them at our local superstore when they have expired.

I'm reviewing this product because I got a free coupon from Ocado. However, I always buy Duracell particularly when I need to ensure as long a battery life as possible. My kids are going camping and if I put these in their torches I know that they will not need to take spares with them.

I'm reviewing this product because I got a free coupon from Ocado. Duracell has always had a good performance, and because of its durability, buying batteries must be my first choice.

I'm reviewing this product because I got a free coupon from Ocado. I always choose Duracell batteries, for my remotes and gadgets to my fire alarm, and I always buy them from a trusted vendor like Ocado - that way I don't need to worry about whether or not they'll work or if they're expired or fake. I can't always rely on other online vendors so I don't bother with them for my battery needs. Since I buy my Duracell batteries from Ocado, I know I've got three less things to worry about as I endlessly channel surf with my super-charged TV remote. Brill.
