JA Solar is at the forefront of the solar market -- this Chinese manufacturer is among the largest photovoltaic brands in the world. What kind of panels does it make? What makes them so popular all around the globe? Let's find out in our small review.

Being a Tier 1 solar manufacturer doesn't actually say a lot about the product that you make, but it's an indicator of how well the company is doing. JA Solar is financially stable and won't go anywhere anytime soon -- that's why Bloomberg experts consider it a Tier 1 brand.

JA Solar is focused on making high-output very efficient monocrystalline PV modules, mono- or bifacial. Of course, they also have quality, though fairly standard residential panels for sale. The efficiency of their panels varies between 19%-21%. You could say that the manufacturer makes panels primarily for projects of a large scope: commercial and industrial installations, solar farms, etc. Bifacial panels with two active sides are quite popular for these projects, as one module can give up to 30% more production than a standard monofacial panel.

Panels from JA Solar come at a relatively low price which makes it easier to replace broken modules. They are also sturdy and show great resilience in extreme weather conditions. One module can endure winds up to 210 mph in speed which is much higher than the wind speeds of an average tornado or a hurricane.

The warranties for JA Solar panels are quite standard for the industry. Each panel comes with a 12-year warranty for the product and a 25-year warranty for the output. JA Solar panel retains over 90% of its output after 10 years and around 83% of the rated output in 25 years. Bifacial panels get 30-year performance warranty and their degradation rates are lower: only 0.45% power output loss per year.
