According to where you live, a substantial part of the price of your solar system can be covered and even pay back thanks to the federal solar tax credit, local grants, net rebates, and more.

Solar panels upgrade a home's value by 4.1% on average. Whether you're raising your home for a future sale or making it your forever home, the numbers say it all. Go Green with a smart investment!

We had an amazing job from start to finish, everyone concerned surpassed our expectations. The quality of workmanship was outstanding and we got the grants we asked for, which allowed us to pay much less for our solar panels. I'm certain we'll call on them again when we enlarge our solar system in the future.

Very impressed with the work done, on time and very quickly. The crews and office staff were very professional and easy to work with. Excellent communication in all aspects and useful information on how to get our government subsidies. The panels installed started producing power within 5 minutes of being powered up. I would definitely recommend to anyone planning installing solar panels.
